

Canada Statement of Typical Participant Earnings

USANA Customers and Associates are unique, and their reasons for choosing USANA vary. Whatever the reason, USANA is a company that helps individuals achieve a more purposeful life—physically and financially.

The majority of new Canadian Associates tell us they join with the primary purpose of improving their health through USANA's products. These Customers are extremely important to USANA and our long-term success, and we encourage their loyalty through our optional Auto Order program, a 10 per cent discounted pricing platform on all USANA purchases. The other new Associates tell us they join with the intent to earn money through sharing USANA products. Earners receive commissions, but are not actively building or expanding their business. Business Builders are actively recruiting other members, and most earn commissions on product sales in their downline sales team. Both Earners and Business Builders enjoy discounts through USANA's Auto Order program.

Building a business with USANA can be highly rewarding and may supplement or even replace income earned from an individual's primary profession. As with any entrepreneurial effort, starting a business typically requires a significant amount of time, effort, and commitment to personal development. One of the main benefits of starting a USANA business—as opposed to other entrepreneurial efforts—is the relatively low start-up and operation costs. In addition, USANA provides access to professional training and marketing tools to help new Associates become acclimated to the direct selling industry.

Typical Participant Earnings of all USANA Associates (Canada): $92.00

All Canadian Associates are included in this typical participant earnings statement for the year 2015. It is important to note that of the 28,638 total Canadian Associates, 16,883 are customers who purchase products but do not participate in the USANA commission plan. However, they may have earned undisclosed income through retail sales, which would not be reflected in this chart.

Below, we have detailed our various Associate classifications to provide a more accurate picture of potential earnings. This chart covers the following time period: 02-Jan-2015 to 31-Dec-2015.
